DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-25, drawn to a device to create group delay, classified in class 359, subclass 256.
- II. Claims 26-34, drawn to a method of adjusting an optical signal, classified in class 359, subclass 483.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the method to control the polarization could be used in a liquid crystal display device, such as a computer monitor.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and the required searches are not coextensive, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

If the applicants elects either Group I or Group II the applicant is further required to elect between the following species for each of the respective Groups.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Group I

Species I claims 1-9, discloses a device for differential group delay that comprises at least three birefringent elements with the first, second and third elements having a differential group delay ratio of 1:2:1, and claims only a single controlling means.

Species II claims 10-20, discloses a device for differential group delay that comprises a second control means for controlling the second birefringent element and makes no reference to a ratio between the birefringent elements.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 21-25 from Group I are generic.

Group II

Species I claims 26-29, discloses a method for operating a device to create differential group delay with three birefringent elements with the first second and third elements have a group delay ratio of 1:2:1, and makes no reference to the orientation of the elements laying between 0 and 90 degrees.

Species II claims 30-34, discloses a method for operating a device to create differential group delay with at least four birefringent elements while having the orientation of at most two of the elements between 0 and 90 degrees, and makes no reference to a ratio relationship between the elements.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims from Group II are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 2872

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
